POTTER VALLEY NOTES.

Interesting Events Which Have Occurred the Past Week.

POTTER VALLEY, December 28.—Special praise is due some of the little ones here who acted their parts so well during the exercises at last Saturday evening's Christmas tree.

Mrs. Rose O'Neill, wife of Dr. O'Neill of Santa Rosa, is here visiting her brother, Henry T. Hopper.

Mrs. Smith of Humboldt county is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Shaw, of this place.

Miss Lillie Street is spending the holidays with her parents here.

Mrs. J. Gavin has recently been called to Healdsburg on account of the illness of her relatives.

The unexpected deaths of Mrs. R. L. Cleveland and Mrs. Joseph Thornton sheds a gloom in our midst which cannot quickly be dispelled.

Mrs. Cleveland, the daughter of L. B. Maze, was born and reared in our midst; hence we saw her in infancy, loved her in childhood, esteemed her more and more as she grew into womanhood. She leaves seven helpless children, a kind husband, and fond brothers and a sister to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Thornton, the young, accomplished and beloved daughter of Mr. Ferguson of Santa Rosa, came here only a short time ago as a happy bride, only to win her way in hearts and leave them suddenly bereft.

The sorrowing relatives have the sympathy of the entire community over the loss of their loved ones. LINDA POWELL.

Gravelly Valley Items.

GRAVELLY VALLEY, December 28.—Salmon are now coming up south Eel river in myriads. With good winter rains the sport will be immense.

The farmers in this valley have completed the work of putting in their crops. The acreage this year is large.

Ed Blevins is prepairing to slaughter about one hundred head of fine hogs.

Will Hunter's hotel, which promises to develop into one of the most noted resorts in this section of the state, is being improved for the coming tourist season.

The new foot bridge over South Eel river is not only a work of art but a great convenience to the traveling public.

Mrs. Coaley, who came up from San Francisco for her health some time ago, is getting along nicely, and is much pleased with this section of the state. PLUTUS.

Hold your horses when Topping makes his drive tomorrow.

SOME HAPPY HEARTS.

CUPID PLAYS HAVOC WITH BOYS AND GIRLS.

The Marriage of J. E Kinsey and Miss Effie Wells—The Nuptials of J. B. Sanford and Miss Nina B. Hughes—Other Local Weddings.

Grand old St. John's M. E. church has rarely presented a more animated scene than it did Saturday morning last when Miss Effie Wells and J. E. Kinsey were made one. The church was decorated with ivy and red berries and the bridal party stood under an arch of the same. The bride was attired in a very tasteful traveling costume and held a large bouquet of lillies-of-the-valley and ferns.

The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Hoffman and the groomsman was Harry C. Banks. Misses Lilly Wells and Alma Southard were the maids-of-honor. Miss Churchill of San Jose presided at the organ and rendered a very pleasing selection. Rev. H. J. Winsor was the officiating clergyman.

It was eminently fitting that the climax of Mrs. Kinsey's life at Ukiah should take place at the altar of the church where for the past fifteen years she had been such a consistent member and earnest worker.

There was a reception at the church, then the bridal party and near relatives adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, where the inner man was regaled with things proper and the handsome and valuable presents that a host of kind friends had sent were admired.

We can ill afford to lose such splendid young people from our midst, and there was some regret in the hearty "God bless you" as amid a shower of rice they took the midday train for San Francisco, where at 27 Stanley Place they will be "at home" to their many friends. R. X.

Sanford-Hughes.

At high noon on Christmas day the wedding of Hon. J. B. Sanford and Miss Nina B. Hughes took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Case. Only the immediate relatives and a very few of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. C. Shropshire, was brief and each word well chosen. Miss Mollie Taylor played the wedding march, allowing it to run into low sweet strains during the ceremony. Misses Bessie McGarvey and Madge Ellis, dressed in white, led the way to the altar, followed by Miss Effie Case, who carried a white satin cushion on which was placed the wedding ring. The bride wore a handsome traveling suit of cadet blue broadcloth and the groom the conventional suit of black. The rooms were very prettily decorated with Christmas berries, ferns and mistletoe. A large number of friends accompanied the bride and groom to the train, where they were abundantly supplied with rice, and the train which carried them Sacramentowards carried also an old shoe filled with good luck and daintily tied to their trunk with a bow of white satin ribbon. Miss Hughes is the intellectual and highly accomplished daughter of Rev. J. H. Hughes, former pastor of the Christian church of this city, and Mr. Sanford's record is most favorably known throughout this county and a large portion of the state. They take with them the best wishes of a host of friends. R.

Reeder-Brown.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown in Kelseyville, Lake county, at 12:30 o'clock on Christmas day, when their daughter Miss Stella was given in marriage to D. Reeder. The parlors were beautifully decorated with ivy and chrysanthemums and the bride and groom stood under a wedding bell of the same. After the ceremony an elegant dinner was served. Only intimate friends and relatives were present. Miss Brown was a resident of Ukiah for a short time and made many friends during her stay here, and they will be pleased to know of her marriage with so estimable a young man. J. Banks and family and Miss Lelia Gard were in attendance from this place. We wish them much joy and happiness. S.

An error was made in the publication of the marriage notice of George H. Bohn and Mrs. Mary A. Simpson in THE PRESS of last week. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. F. Coffin, and not J. B. Gleeson, as stated. As the happy couple are indissolubly united there can be nothing in the name of the favored minister who made them one. THE PRESS mentions the fact simply in order to keep the record straight. The bride and groom were married at the M. E. church South, and not at the Catholic church, as also appeared in the item.

Fred Sholl and Miss Bettie Burke were married in this city Saturday morning last at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. H. C. Shropshire. The bride and groom left on the noon train for an extended visit in San Francisco.

Marvin Luce of this city and Miss Lizzie Corbett of Willits were married at the residence of the bride's parents Sunday evening last.

G. E. Lincoln and Miss Alice Rhodes were married Sunday last at the residence of the bride's parents in this city, by Rev. R. F. Gray.

Fred Petit and Miss Perle Perkins, both of this city, were married at the parsonage Tuesday evening by Rev. W. J. Winsor.

Eugene W. Ross and Miss Clara A. Comegys, both of Point Arena, were married last week.

An Incipient Fire.

An alarm of fire Monday night brought out the department for a small blaze in the room occupied by Judge Critchfield as a courtroom. The fire was started by a burning ashbox, and was extinguished without difficulty. The damage was nominal.

Watch-night services will be held Saturday evening at St. John's M. E. church beginning at 9 p. m. Rev. Coffin of the M E. church South will preach the sermon and other ministers will make short addresses.

Her Fatal Aim.

Mrs. Melvin Fairbanks is the heroine of an exciting adventure. Thursday afternoon last while her boys were at play in the hills near their home, a large fox made its appearance. The boys immediately called to their mother and asked her to release the dogs. Mrs. Fairbanks complied with the request, and in the mean time had loaded her parlor rifle and gone in pursuit. She discovered the fox from the baying of the hounds, and in a short time the bush of the cunning animal was added to her museum of natural curiosities. The dogs then started another fox from its lair, and it shortly met the fate of its predecessor.

Two Married Men.

One of the funniest scenes in Two Married Men is the initiation of Carnaby Fix into the mystic order of hod fellows. Everybody can appreciate it and to many it will bring back fond recollections of the night they rode the goat. The characters in this merry comedy are all well drawn and are interpreted by a company of actors especially adapted to farce comedy. They come highly recommended by the eastern press and will no doubt repeat here the success which has attended them in the eastern cities. The comedy will appear at Mason's lyceum on Tuesday. Tickets on sale at Keller & McClure's.

A SONOMA BATTERY.

ASSAULTED AND CAPTURED BY DR. OSBORNE.

The Medical Superintendent of the Glen Ellen Home for the Feeble-Minded Uses Bisulphide With Fatal Effect—A Queer Story.

The home for the feeble-minded in Sonoma county is presided over by Dr. A. E. Osborne, who has a horror of uncleanliness in any form. When, therefore, one day an attendant reported to him that bedbugs had been discovered in his dormitory, the doctor was horrified. He hurried to the scene of the invasion. Here he found in the north wall a long zigzag crack in the plaster, made by a recent earthquake, and in this crack a nest of the creatures. No time was lost in attacking the invaders. The usual chemicals were applied, the dormitory was overhauled, beds and bedsteds were thoroughly cleansed, and when the fumigation was finished there was not a bedbug in sight. Within twenty-four hours, back came the attendant with the tidings that the insects had reappeared in greater numbers than ever.

Dr. Osborne is an enthusiastic amateur naturalist and familiar with the habits of almost all common insects. He at once ordered a thorough search of the caves of the institution for swallows' nest, for it is in these that the bedbug frequently propagates, as every farmer's wife knows. But not one could be found. So the doctor spent that evening out of doors, rambling about the premises, with his eyes and ears open. His quest was rewarded by the discovery of another possible source of supply.

The air was full of bats. They fluttered about singly and in schools to the number of thousands, seemingly. He had never seen so many bats in his life. The origin of the bedbugs was no longer a mystery, for he knew that the ratio of the bedbug to the bat is the same as that of the flea to the dog. So the doctor ordered the carpenter to locate the sleeping place of the creatures, and went to bed.

It took the carpenter two days to trace the bats to their lair, but he finally did. The earthquake which had cracked the plaster in the dormitory had wrenched the tin flashing of the chimney several inches away from the bricks, thus affording the bats ingress to the hollow space between the lathwork and wall of the building. The carpenter went to work on the wall and soon tore a hole large enough for a boy to crawl through. While he stood looking at it out came a bat, startled by the unwonted daylight. Another followed, and another, and the carpenter began to amuse himself by chasing them around the room with his hat. Still others emerged from the hole in the wall, and presently the astonished carpenter found himself in the midst of a swarm of bats.

A great battle followed. The carpenter laid about him with everything he could get hold of, and the bats flew about his head in clusters like a swarm of bees. He fought until exhausted, then gave it up and sent for the doctor, who found him in his shirt sleeves, with trembling limbs and arms akimbo, surveying a row of dead bats which he had laid out on a board. There were forty-eight.

"This is the official list of the killed and wounded," said the carpenter. "Three thousand more flew away out of the window."

"Nonsense"! said the doctor, but went off to the laboratory and got some bisulphide of carbon, which he put into the hole in the wall. Being denser than the air it sank to the foundation of the building, and the havoc it created on its way down would have shamed the dynamite gun of the cruiser Vesuvius, which, as the Spanish informed the victorious American army, used to fire earthquakes at them during the siege of Santiago. Every bat and every bug in that wall perished then and there. Not one escaped. A few bats fluttered out into the room, only to fall dead on the floor. A few bugs crawled laboriously out of the hole to die on the wall. In a few minutes all was over.

How many bats the doctor harvested out of that hole in the wall is not known accurately. He says he never saw so many bats before and never expects to again. There must have been a barrel of them. Where they came from in such numbers is a mystery, still unsolved.

A very rich strike was made in the Shorty Hope mine, near Ashland, Or. An ore body five and one-half feet thick and running from up to $5000 per ton was found 150 feet below the surface.

Four supervisors of Fresno county are charged with malfeasance, in the misappropriation of funds.

Samuel Martin, a veteran residing at the Soldiers' Home, Santa Monica, fell from an electric car at Los Angeles and was badly mangled.

An unknown sloop was recently found wrecked on the beach Sumdum bay, Alaska. The sloop left Wrangle some days before with 12 passengers. No trace of the men can be found.

The grand jury of San Francisco requested to be dismissed last week, condemning itself as a useless body. In its report it stated: Therefore it will be obvious to all that, inasmuch as the Code does not provide for the punishment of public officers as it should, and the jury is enjoined from treating truthfully of such offenses in its final report, we utterly fail to see the slightest usefulness of a grand jury under the present conditions. All the power this body has is to cover such individual cases as can be reached just as well by a properly conducted police court.

The Fresno county grand jury has created another sensation by finding accusations against all the members of the Fresno city board of trustees, charging them with corrupt conduct in office and mismanagement of public affairs. The officers accused of malfeasance are Mayor C. J. Crayeroft and Trustees F. M. Chittenden, Joseph Spinney, W. F. McVey and E. L. Austin. The special charge against them is that they squandered the funds of the city in paying $1795 25 for the reconstruction of an engine-house without having first advertised for bids.

A great deal of indignation has been aroused among the substantial residents of Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties over the grossly exaggerated reports published by some of the papers of San Francisco and towns of the interior concerning the sufferings of settlers in the northern section of San Luis Obispo and the southern section of Monterey county. It is a known fact that the supervisors of the counties affected have never failed to extend aid when applied for, and in no miserly manner. It is quite possible that outside aid might have been welcomed later on, before a crop is harvested, but up to the present time the county officials have found no need of applying for any outside assistance in relieving those worthy and in need of help. It is well known that shiftlessness has had much to do with the destitute condition in which some people adjacent to Lockwood now find themselves.

Colonel Andrew J. Smith has tendered his resignation as governor of the Soldiers' Home at Santa Monica, It became known recently that the resignation was sent in in November, to date from March 31st, at which time a leave of absence which he had secured expires. The resignation was accepted by the board of managers of the soldiers' homes on December 3d. Attempts to kill Smith prompted his action.

Supplemental articles of incorporation for the Snake River Valley Railroad Company have been filed in Multnomah county, Or., increasing the capital stock of that corporation and authorizing the construction of nine branch lines in the upper Columbia valley, where competition is now so fierce between the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company and the Northern Pacific railroad. The Snake River Valley road is closely allied with the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company. The nine branch lines proposed will gridiron the wheat belt in eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and central Idaho.

A dispatch from Astoria, Or., says: A mob of twenty men attacked the bunkhouse of the Astoria and Columbia road at Clatskanie, overpowered the foreman in charge of the newly imported Japanese section hands and started toward Maygers with them. The foreman telegraphed here to Superintendent McGuire for help. The mob is supposed to consist of the fishermen who have been working on the road and who have been supplanted by the Japanese.

The title of the Northern Pacific Railroad to nearly 9,000,000 acres of land in the state of Washington is invalid, according to a majority report of the special state legislative investigating committee. The legislature will be urged to take up the matter with a view to restoring this immense tract to the public domain.

The revised regulations governing the employment of workmen at the navy yards and describing the mode of giving preference to veterans have been received at Mare island. They have been changed in several respects, by placing the veterans of the Spanish-American war who served in foreign countries on an equal footing with the veterans of the Rebellion, who heretofore have had first choice. First choice is given those who have served in the Rebellion and the Spanish-American war, but who were not ordered to the front. It takes out of clause 2 and puts into clause 1 those who have served in the marine corps or navy for twelve years since the Rebellion, and those who have become physically disqualified by sickness or injury in the line of duty, the former having preference. All of these go ahead of "Veterans in Navy Yard Work," or those who have ratings of "excellent" in workmanship and "good" in conduct. These latter, with those who have served in the navy or marine corps for a period of six years, exclusive of apprentice service in the same or in an allied trade to that for which requisition is made and whose honorable discharges or continuous service show that they are proficient in their respective ratings and that their average conduct is marked "4" or better, now form clause 2. Clause 3, as before, consists of all others on the register.

Little Grover Buckman, a six-year-old boy, was shot through the head with a parlor rifle at Sacramento and killed instantly. The boy who did the shooting has probably been found, although it is not likely that anything can be done with him. The presumption is that the shooting was an accident.

A terrific explosion of gas occurred in the east gangway on the first lift of the Luke Fidler shaft at Shamokin, Pa., by which two persons were fatally injured, several others seriously and it is feared that some were overcome in the shaft by black damp. Louis Hax, banker, furniture manufacturer, cattleman and promoter of many financial schemes, and Herman Garlisch, druggist, financier and a figure in state Democratic politics have been found dead in bed at their respective homes at St. Joseph, Mo. It is not known how long either had been dead when found. Both men were apparently in robust health. The remarkable coincidence in their mysterious and sudden death causes much speculation.

An expedition consisting of a signal detachment, Battery G of the Sixth artillery, Eighteenth regulars and Fifty-first Iowa regiment, under command of General Miller, started for Iloilo from Manila on board the transports Pennsylvania, Arizona and Newport. The expedition was convoyed by the cruiser Baltimore. It is believed the Spaniards are on the point of evacuating Iloilo.

It is sad and disappointing for a father to rear a son, spend hard-earned money for his education, work to insure him an advantageous start in life, and build castles in the air about the boy's future, only to have him killed off in the early years of manhood by the dread disease consumption.

Until recent years consumption was considered an incurable disease. Now it is known to tens of thousands that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases if taken in the early stages of the disease. It also cures bronchitis, laryngitis, throat and nasal troubles and all allied diseases of the air-passages. It is the best blood-maker and flesh-builder, the best general tonic and nerve restorative. It gives a keen edge to the appetite, corrects the impaired digestion, promotes the flow of digestive juices, facilitates the production of chyle in the lower stomach, or intestines, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It tears down old and inert tissues and builds up new, firm, muscular tissues of health. It strengthens the heart's action, promotes the circulation of the blood to every part of the body and deepens the breathing, thus supplying the blood with vitalizing oxygen. Thousands have testified to its merits. The dealer who offers something else as "just as good" is dishonest.

"I never was very strong and then I had La Grippe," writes Mrs. Gracie G. Smith, of 480 15th St., Salem, Oregon. "I had a cough and felt tired all the time. The so-called congress of the revolutionary government of the Filipinos, which has been in session for some time at Malolos, P. I., has been unexpectedly adjourned owing to the difficulty of forming a constitution. A cabinet of President Aguinaldo, appointed at Bakor on July 15th last and named in the proclamation issued on that date has resigned.

At a Christmas sree celebration at Aught, a small town in Osage county, Mo., John Holloway shot and killed Jule Boillot, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Osage county. The killing was the result of trouble of long standing, Boillot and Holloway having had several lawsuits. Holloway shot his victim five times, after which he fled.

Dominic Cavanaugh, the sheriff of Dawson county, Mont., was murdered at Glendive recently. His body was found in the rear of the county building where he resided. The broken skull and indentations on the hat and back of the head indicate a blow from behind. There is no clew to the murder.

Albert Nelson shot Mrs. Aggie Johnson three times at Chicago, then cut his own throat. Each has a chance of recovery. Jealousy is said to have been the motive.

Latest reports from Dawson City, the new Colorado mining camp, indicates that the rich gold ore found on the Copper King claim by the Dawson brothers came from a small pocket.

AN OBITUARY.

The Death of Mrs. Joseph Thornton jr. of Potter Valley.

The death of Mrs. Florence Alameda Thornton, wife of Joseph Thornton jr. of Potter valley, has spread a cloud of sadness, not only over Alexander valley, the place of her birth, but over Potter valley, the place of her home during her brief married life. By her relatives and friends in Potter valley I am requested to write these lines as a tribute of the esteem in which she was held by them.

Mrs. Thornton was born in Alexander valley June 22, 1876. She was the youngest daughter of J. N. and Sarah Ferguson, well known and respected residents of that valley. On May 8, 1898, she was united in marriage by Rev. E. B. Ware to Joseph Thornton jr. of Potter valley, where she lived until a few days before her death.

She went back to the home of her father in Alexander valley the 17th inst to spend the holidays with relatives and friends. Little did her friends think that when she went away she would never return to them again. She was taken ill the 19th and died the next day. The news of her death was a great shock to the people here. Her sunny disposition and kindly bearing had won for her the esteem of all who came into her acquaintance. But alas she has gone from us and the life so filled with promise has closed suddenly and unexpectedly. Her sun has gone down and the dark shadows of sadness stretch across our pathway.

The absence of the familiar step, the vacant chair, and the sweet voice is hushed. The sweet fragrance of her life will long be cherished and remembered by this community, while the beautiful face and form will be seen no more. The sweet smile which became so familiar was not driven from her face amid her sufferings, and when at last she sank beneath the icy hand of death the smile still remained. Weeping may endure for a night but joy cometh in the morning, when the clouds of sadness will be dispelled and parting will be no more; till then we bid the beloved dead farewell.

The funeral was held at the home of her father the 22nd inst. Words of comfort were spoken by Elder E. B. Ware, and after the services a large company of mourners followed the hearse to the grave, where she was laid to rest till the resurrection morning. P. G. McIver.

Two Married Men.

George R. Edeson's latest comedy success, Two Married Men, will appear at Mason's lyceum next Tuesday evening. Unlike most farce comedies, there is a plot, and a very funny one too; it deals with the mishaps of two benedicts who start out to enjoy what they think an innocent flirtation, little dreaming of the many trials and tribulations they will meet with before returning to their own firesides. During the action of the play new songs and specialties are introduced, which together with the many complications and comical situations met with by the two married men form one of the most enjoyable comedies that will be seen here this season. Tickets on sale at Keller & McClure's.

At Mason's Lyceum.

Professor Topping and a company of refined entertainers will be in Ukiah tomorrow and Monday. Professor Topping will give a free exhibition tomorrow. Starting from the Palace hotel he will drive through the streets at a breakneck speed blindfolded and recover an object hidden by a committee of citizens and return safely to the hotel. Professor Topping is without doubt the greatest living mindreader and has associated with him a company of ladies and gentlemen of acknowledged ability and promises the people of Ukiah and vicinity one of the finest entertainments ever given here at prices to suit the times—25 and 50 cents.

Dr. John B. Hamilton, formerly Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service, died in Elgin, Ill., recently.

White union miners and imported negro miners engaged in a street fight at Pana, Ill. David McGavic, a white union miner, and Charles Gilbert, a non-union negro miner, were very badly injured. Gilbert will probably die.

After accompanying his soldier son home from San Francisco, aged Walter Rosser died at Stevenson, Ala., of worry and grief. His sudden death is the climax of the trial of his son, Walter Rosser, for murder. The young man was a soldier stationed in San Francisco, and killed Henry Hilderbrand in that city. He was put on trial for the crime. The son in his troubles turned to his father. The old man answered the summons from the west, going in person to San Francisco to see his boy through the ordeal. The father apparently took all the grief and shame of his son's position on his own feeble shoulders. Walter Rosser, Jr., was acquitted. After the acquittal the father and son started for their old home. The former was like a child on this journey. It is related that he clung to his boy as if he feared that there was yet a chance of losing him. They had just entered their old home when the old man fell dead.
